Italian Speaking TradingAround joins NinjaTrader Partner Program

Denver, CO, April 28, 2014 – NinjaTrader, LLC, is pleased to welcome Italian speaking TradingAround to its Educational Partner Program. Based in Italy, TradingAround offers valuable trading insight and education in both Italian and English for serious traders worldwide.

TradingAround it's an innovative group of trading professionals delivering cutting edge educational techniques and trading methods while utilizing NinjaTrader's award winning technical analysis tools and the fast, unfiltered Kinetick datafeed. Founded in 2008 by Sergio Peano, a successful institutional proprietary trader, and co-managed by Alberto Peano, a market structure/profile expert with professional trading experience, TradingAround have been helping traders for years. The two founders established TradingAround with the goal of providing quality education to independent traders worldwide across multiple instruments and asset classes. The education tends to minimize the stress of intraday trading while teaching confidence in how to capitalize on market opportunities quickly and efficiently. It offers financial strategies, advisor and trading solutions to help clients to reach their goals.

"TradingAround utilizes NinjaTrader's SuperDOM and Advanced Trade Management (ATM) technology for easy and powerful order management to get an immediate feeling for the market's price action" says Alberto Peano, Trader and Founder of TradingAround. "As Educator, the built in NinjaTrader simulation environment is an invaluable learning tool to get up to speed quickly with confidence prior to placing live trades in the market."
